

Illustrations Matter

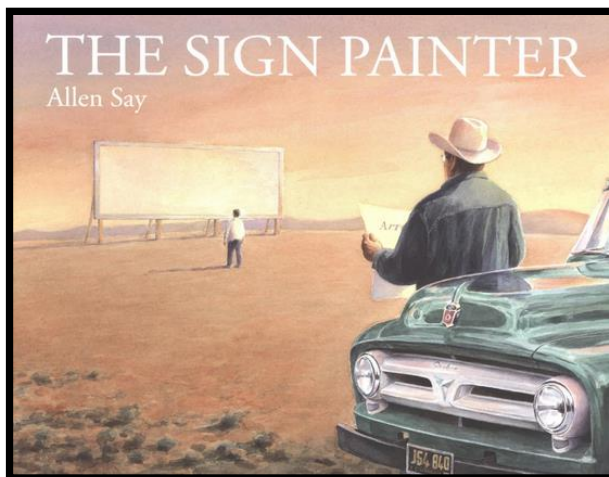

Objectives:

- Ask and answer questions about a specific text.
- Explain how illustrations contribute to a story.

Procedure:

- Introduce The Sign Painter by Allen Say, tell students that the illustrations play an important role in telling this story.
- Challenge students to question and think about specific questions they have about the story, as it is read aloud.
- Students will discuss their observations, questions, and opinions about the text and the way in which the illustrations helped to tell the story.
- Encourage students to refer to specific illustrations and words as they discuss the text.
